It's Camp Time!

Most of you have heard me talk about my work at Flying Horse Farms; but, for the few of you who have missed these enthusiastic talks, I thought I would give you the information. First, Flying Horse Farms is part of the Serious Fun Network of Camps founded by Paul Newman. There are only 8 of these camps in this country (one more opening soon in Michigan) and a few in other countries. All of the camps function independently and decide on which disease groups to serve, admission criteria, volunteer screening and training, etc.

Our camps include: Hematology, Oncology, Pulmonary, Nephrology, Craniofacial, Heart Rheumatology and GI diagnoses. During each week of summer camp, volunteer nurses and doctors who specialize in the illness come to camp to assure the campers' medical safety. In addition, we have 40 to 50 volunteers each week that work with the campers - plus 25 summer staff and another 10 full time staff. Needless to say, we are very cautious with our campers. We also have a special week for the siblings of these children, so they can have a week of special attention.

And while we are cautious with our campers, we also let them explore, adventure, and try new things. Many people get confused by our name - we do not have horses. The camp was named after a character in the children's book "The Big Red Barn" by Margaret Wise Brown, a favorite book of the 200 acres where our camp is located.

In the summer we have boating, fishing, arts and crafts, nature center, archery, swimming in an amazing pool, a ropes course, lots of silly songs, dancing, and a tepee outpost overnight for teen campers. We also have weekend camps in the Spring and Fall, primarily for families. We want the entire family to have breaks from the stress of doctors' appointments and treatments and just have some fun. Our camp serves children who would otherwise not be able to attend camp. Our medical facility and staff make this possible.

I have several roles at camp. First, starting in January, I review all applications and assess the campers Mental Health, Behavioral Challenges and Developmental Delays - primarily to assess if we have the capacity to accommodate these needs. As camp approaches I call the parents of the 'new' campers to answer questions and try to calm nerves. During camp, I spend a lot of time on the phone and email with nervous parents, while also serving as part of a small team that helps counselors deal with homesickness and any behavioral concerns that arise at camp.

In the Fall we have more weekend camps. In November and December we fund raise, evaluate the past year and make plans for the next season. ALL CAMPS ARE FREE TO ALL CAMPERS.

If there is enough interest, I would like to offer another tour of camp this Spring. The tour must take place while there are no campers here. Our philosophy is that we do not want campers to feel like they are on display. We have wonderful opportunities to volunteer, so check out the website and think about joining this growing family. Anything from cabin counselor to fishing master to kitchen creator.

Join me sometime!

MESSAGES FROM THE BOARD

...from Glenn Myers, President

ALL SOULS UU CHURCH AND ITS FUTURE

The announcement of our minister, Karen Bruno, indicating that she would be leaving us this summer has motivated the Board to engage in some critical analyses of All Souls - where are we as a church, and where do we want to go? Following is the view from my position in the church.

A task force consisting of congregants and board members was formed to gather input concerning the future direction of All Souls and the characteristics of a new minister needed to achieve those goals. The task force findings and suggestions were presented to the Board by All Souls member Art O'Leary at the regular meeting April 15, 2015. (Keep in mind: It is the 12-member elected Board that makes decisions concerning church policy matters and nominates minister candidates to be considered by church members as a whole.)

The task force report was enlightening, thorough, and challenging. Number one on the list emphasized the desire to keep "that special something" that we experience at each Sunday's service and coffee hour - the genuine warmth and concern for each other and for visitors. I say "Amen" to that.

Somewhat challenging in the report was the concern about how the local community views us and feels about us. It was indicated that All Souls needs to be more visible, more of a church of action, and should take stands on social issues. These suggestions were followed by, "But, we don't want to be seen as too radical," which presents somewhat of a dilemma. Any time a position is taken on an issue, it will automatically be controversial because there are always at least two sides. And what is considered radical by some may please others. So, rather than backing away from issues, the Board should follow our fifth Principle which promotes the use of the democratic process to make decisions for the church as a whole.

Keep in mind, All Souls is geographically located in a conservative community. (Historically, the Unitarian Church was here before most of Bellville developed --- we were here first, but we won't flaunt it.) Nevertheless, UU Churches are fundamentally liberal because they are characterized by their tolerance of different religious views and are not based on creed. Therefore, UU Churches ARE RADICAL by their nature.

So, conservatives are not going to embrace us - the best we can hope for is to be accepted (which I think we are). But, we must not allow the community to influence our principles, RATHER, our principles should influence the community.

I think we can best address the dilemma by displaying our seven principles through church policies and actions - and by our individual deportment in the community. People in the community need to know that we oppose any kind of oppression whether it be related to sexism, homophobia, racism, ageism, etc. And, the community can only know about us through what they see us doing. (You can pretend to care, but you can't pretend to show up!)

We must not be afraid of being radical; we should just be sure to do our things with love and understanding. Unitarian Universalism is not for sissies - neither is it for bullies.

We must also remember that not everyone in the community is conservative. There are many quiet liberals (and maybe some conservatives) out there who are just waiting to see the beacon of All Souls, so let's not be afraid to light it and let it shine. Unitarian Universalism does not convert people, it attracts them.

Along with the arrival of spring comes All Souls Stewardship and Pledge Program. It is the commitment of your time, talent and money that allows All Souls to thrive. Look for your pledge material to arrive soon.

As you are doing your spring cleaning, think about recycling and donating good saleable items to the church Summer Rummage Sale.

Now that the weather has improved, several projects were completed.

Snow guards were installed on the east and west side of the church roof, with an extra guard above the side door. These guards will reduce snow build up in the gutters and the potential for snow cascading from the roof to the side door entrance way. The framed poster of the seven principles are now hanging on the wall above the piano. The poster was printed by Bryan Bartsch, and the frame was custom made from wormy chestnut by Steve Ocheltree. The wood came from a house a block from the church and of the same age (120 years). The poster is 4ftx3ft., which makes an impressive presentation. The chair lift had a maintenance service on March 20, and it is working well. A new seat post will be installed during the week of March 22 as part of a recall.

During the year, we celebrate many holidays and changing seasons. This is always reflected by the beautiful decorating of the church. This effort takes a great deal of planning, creativity and hard work. A big Thank You goes out to Bruce and Ann Kilgore for their hard work in decorating the church, both inside and out.
THANKS!!!!!!!!!!

The sidewalk replacement date is anyone's guess - maybe May or June. This is an inconvenience for everyone, as we have to use the side door as our main entrance. Thank you for your cooperation.

On Saturday, April 25, we will have a spring work day from 8:30am -12:00pm. A sign-up sheet will be circulated.

We recently received 60 cushioned "restaurant stacker" chairs to replace the old metal folding chairs in the Fellowship Hall. Several members have donated money to cover the cost of 26 chairs. I want to thank them for their unselfish generosity. If anyone would like to purchase a chair(s) for the Fellowship Hall, the cost is $30.00 each. At last we can sit in comfort while having coffee and conversations.

I found these interesting articles on the U.U.A website and thought I would share... Happy April church family!

For many Unitarian Universalists, the resurrection narrative is often more metaphorical than literal. Many kinds of resurrection can be emphasized: rebirth of nature; resurrecting dreams and hopes; resurrecting dead relationships. In a general sense, the ultimate triumph of life over death. Hallelujah!

"An Easter Mediation" by Samuel A Trumbore

Eternal spirit, we witness bringing green growth throwing out tiny tendrils seeking support;
sprouting thin twigs reaching for the bright golden sun;
guiding new tubers seeking water in dark, sandy soil,
Be in and amongst us this Easter morning.
We gather this morning to celebrate the triumph of life over death.
The body can be killed but the spirit cannot be quenched.
Only yesterday had we given up all hope of the promise of the coming divine realm and today we are renewed and inspired as we realize it is now already here.
This morning we remember that pain, suffering and death are not ends but can be scary underground passageways to more abundant life—
If ... we have the courage to face our fear and crawl through to be pushed and pulled by the mind narrowing forces of lust, hate, and confusion.
This morning we renew our dedication to act from our love rather than our fear,
We renew our faith in the inherent dignity and worth of all humanity—including ourselves—which cannot be removed from anyone and seek the nerve to face the slings and arrows of outrageous fortune which may come our way.
In our moments of defeat and surrender,
may we turn away from the paths of revenge, denial, and cynicism.
May we remember the eternal truth spun into the web of life:
our wounds can become sacred incarnational teaching of the wisdom imbedded in the story of resurrection.
Let us celebrate together this morning,
the one who never gives up even in the darkest night of winter,
our blue green planet earth, resurrected anew each spring.

I also found these spring poems, and I would like to share them as well:

Simple and fresh and fair from winter's close emerging,
As if no artifice of fashion, business, politics, had ever been,
Forth from its sunny nook of shelter'd grass — innocent, golden, calm as the dawn,
The spring's first dandelion shows its trustful face.

— Walt Whitman, "The First Dandelion"

...Media, Advertising & Growth cont.

For winter's rains and ruins are over,
And all the seasons of snows and sins;
The days dividing lover and lover,
The light that loses, the night that wins;
And time remembered is grief forgotten,
And frosts are slain and flowers begotten,
And in green underwood and cover
Blossom by blossom the spring begins.

— Algernon Charles Swinburne, "Atalanta in Calydon"

And Spring arose on the garden fair,
Like the Spirit of Love felt everywhere;
And each flower and herb on Earth's dark breast rose from the dreams of its wintry rest.

— Percy Bysshe Shelley, "The Sensitive Plant"

The first day of spring is one thing, and the first spring day is another. The difference between them is sometimes as great as a month.

— Henry Van Dyke, "Fisherman's Luck"

The sun was warm but the wind was chill.
You know how it is with an April day.
When the sun is out and the wind is still,
You're one month on in the middle of May.
But if you so much as dare to speak,
a cloud come over the sunlit arch,
And wind comes off a frozen peak,
And you're two months back in the middle of March.

— Robert Frost, "Two Tramps in Mud Time"

A Light exists in Spring
Not present on the Year
At any other period —
When March is scarcely here.

— Emily Dickinson, "No. 812"

Looking back to February. Well what can I say? IT WAS REALLY COLD!!! So cold that our Sunday the 15th service with Sister Paulette Schroeder was canceled, along with just about everything else that Sunday morning. But we came back on Sunday the 22nd with a good turnout for Lisa Kreischer, who gave a really good talk on taking responsibility for our actions by making better choices about how we respond when our needs are not being met. The following Sunday was met with another blast of winter snow and cold which lowered the attendance for Karen's talk on "Prayers That Have Moved Me". But, despite the low turnout, we all enjoyed the fellowship of those who came and Karen's message from "Illuminata: A Return to Prayer", by Marianne Williamson, that I would like to share with everybody here in the newsletter.

"Let Your Light Shine"

"Our deepest fear is not that we are inadequate.
Our deepest fear is that we are powerful beyond measure.
It is our light, not our darkness
That most frightens us.

We ask ourselves
Who am I to be brilliant, gorgeous, talented, fabulous?
Actually, who are you not to be?
You are a child of God.

Your playing small
Does not serve the world.
There's nothing enlightened about shrinking
So that other people won't feel insecure around you.

We are all meant to shine,
As children do.
We were born to make manifest
The glory of God that is within us.

It's not just in some of us;
It's in everyone.

And as we let our own light shine,
We unconsciously give other people permission to do the same.
As we're liberated from our own fear,
Our presence automatically liberates others."

So, with that, we all witnessed our own Mandy Waltz letting her own light shine on Sunday March 8th with her very moving message "Grandma and the Seven Principles". We were also very entertained with Ayesha singing for the first time, as she played our offertory on the piano. A great turnout and very inspirational Sunday for all. Our last speaker, before the newsletter deadline, was our own President Glenn Myers speaking on Part 2 of "God and the History of the Kokosing Construction Company".

We learned a lot about the local history, drama, and integrity of William Boyd Burgett, the founder of the Kokosing Construction Company.

Looking Ahead to April

Sunday, April 5 Speaker: Rev. Karen Bruno

Title: "The Seven Faces of Jesus"

Topic: Heretic, Healer, Mystic, Messiah, Peacemaker, Social Activist, or Son of God. How do you see Jesus and what does that mean to you this Easter?

Leader: Eric Sargent

Music: Ayesha Fry

*Also Sunday April 5th is our Flower Communion. Bring a flower to share. Just as there are many varieties of flowers, we share in our own varieties of diversity. Although we are all very different, we are all beautiful like flowers. Take a different flower home than the one you brought to share and celebrate diversity.

Sunday, April 12 Speaker: Bill Baker

Title: "Can One Person Make a Difference?"

Topic: In today's busy world, with all our responsibilities and so many social and environmental issues to be addressed, how does an individual "change the world?" Is it even possible for one human to make a difference, or is it best to let some larger group or organization do the work.

Bio: Bill is a local organizer and activist, currently coming out of winter hibernation and excited about making a difference this year. A Navy veteran and father of four, Bill's mid-life crisis involves committing a number of hours each week to volunteer activism regarding Social and Environmental Justice, particularly in regards to local control, and supporting communities in their efforts to remain free and independent. Current commitments include the continuing development of the Luna Park Memorial Trail (located at North Lake Park in Mansfield), organizing the launch of a local newsletter called the 'North End Free Press' and serving Mansfield's Fourth Ward on the Police Review and Community Police Relations Commission.

Leader: Teasha Sprague

Music: Trio Alle Breve

*Also Sunday, April 12, will be our All Souls UU Church Recycling Collection Day. Please see flyer in the newsletter for more information.

Also this would be a great day to do our "Adopt a Highway Program". Hopefully not too hot or cold and, if it does not rain, the litter will be very visible and easy to pick up now before vegetation starts growing. Ideally, we need 16 people. With 16 people divided into 4 groups of 4, it will make the job fast and easy and a great time for some fellowship and community service. Also, some volunteers for child care would be awesome. Remember: You can pretend to care, but you can't pretend to show up!!!

Sunday, April 19 Speaker: Sensei Dean Williams

Title: "The Angels of Zen"

Topic: In Zen and other Mahayana Buddhist traditions, the Bodhisattva is a guiding force. We'll look at similarities and differences between the nature and function of the Bodhisattva and angelic beings as they are conceived of by other religious and spiritual traditions. Most importantly, it is hoped that everyone will come away from the talk with an appreciation of the Bodhisattvas we each carry within ourselves.

Bio: Sensei Dean Williams is the guiding teacher of the Jijuyu-ji Zen Sangha of Cleveland and Living Lotus Sangha of Mansfield. His interest in Zen Buddhism began in the early 70s when he was working on his BA in philosophy. He began formal Zen practice in 1997. He was lay ordained in 2000, ordained as a Buddhist chaplain in 2001, and as a priest in 2003, all while studying with Sojun Diane Martin, the resident teacher at Udumbara Zen Center in Evanston, IL. In 2006, he served as shuso during the fall practice period at Udumbara. Dean received dharma transmission in 2014 from Shoho Michael Newhall, the abbot of Jikoji Zen Center in the Santa Cruz Mountains in California, making him a dharma holder in the Kobun Chino lineage.

Leader: Brian Moore

...Pulpit & Worship cont.

Sunday, April 26 Speaker: Rev. Karen Bruno

Title: "My Journey and the Music of John Denver"

Topic: So many times in my life there has been a John Denver song that has spoken to my heart. I will share some of the "Landmark" songs that have echoed transitions in my life.

Leader: Karen Bruno

Music: Trio Alle Breve

ALSO: POTLUCK AND KENYA COIN COLLECTION

Please Note: This will be Rev. Karen Bruno's last time as a speaker as our pastor. I would like to do something special. I would like everyone to bring a flower bulb to give to Karen. She has agreed to take all the bulbs to camp and dedicate a special spot at the Flying Horse Farm for the children to plant the bulbs and grow a flower garden for Karen and all her friends back at the All Souls Church. The bulbs are very inexpensive, Kroger has them for about $2.99 a box. Karen will still remain with us through August and, hopefully, after that we can have her back as one of our guest speakers once or twice a year...and maybe she will join us on a Sunday as a member from time to time?

So in conclusion: With the return of the Sun from the dark winter's night and rebirth of the world through the miracle of Spring. I invite everyone to let their light shine and manifest the glory of God that is within you!

Peace, Love, and Namaste to All Souls
